

Felippe S. Ramos, Ph.D.

Email: ramof782@newschool.edu

ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5533-9683>

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

Professor of International Relations & Director

Center of Economics and International Relations, Universidade Salvador (UNIFACS)

Brazil | 2017–2021

Directed the Center of Economics and International Relations (NERI), mentoring more than 100 undergraduate students across programs including International Relations, Economics, Journalism, Law, and Business Administration. Activities included the production of podcasts, an IR magazine, webinars, trainings, simulations, and events.

Teaching Fellow

Eugene Lang College of Liberal Arts, The New School

New York | 2017

Instructor of record for an undergraduate course in political sociology and social theory entitled “Sociological Imagination”. Responsibilities included syllabus design, lectures, student supervision, and evaluation.

Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence

Central Arizona College

USA | 2011

Designed and coordinated an academic exchange program between Central Arizona College and the Federal University of Bahia.

Lecturer of Sociology

Federal University of Bahia

Brazil | 2009–2010

Developed the Caravan of the Integration, an academic expedition across nine South American countries supported by Brazil’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs and sponsored by Brazilian multinationals. A video documentary and a photobook were produced.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Courses taught include:

- Methods of Foreign Policy Analysis
- Regional Integration
- Brazilian Foreign Policy
- Comparative Politics
- Geopolitics
- Introduction to Sociology
- Introduction to Political Science

EDUCATION

Ph.D., Sociology, 2024

The New School for Social Research, New York

Dissertation: Democracy and Populism: The (In)tense Relation between Freedom and the Pursuit of the Will of the People

Adviser: Andrew Arato | Defense distinction: High Pass

M.Phil., Sociology, 2022

The New School for Social Research, New York

M.A., Sociology, 2012
Federal University of Bahia, Brazil

Certificate, International Relations, 2009

Federal University of Bahia, Brazil

B.A., Sociology, 2007

Federal University of Bahia, Brazil

PUBLICATIONS

Solo-Authored Books

- When Illiberalism Unsettles Democracy: Origins, Perils, and Prospects of the Unruly Will of the People. Under contract; forthcoming Spring 2027. Routledge.
- Brazilian Foreign Policy and the Construction of South America. 2015. Federal University of Bahia Press. [Portuguese]

Peer-Reviewed Journal Articles and Book Chapters

- "The Trump Corollary and the Strategic Reconfiguration of Latin America and the Caribbean." Lead author, with Briza Quaresma Regueira. April 2026. Revista Tempo do Mundo, no. 40. Institute for Applied Economic Research (IPEA).
- "Brazilian Foreign Policy amid Structural Economic Adjustment." 2016. In #DEMOCRACIABR: O Momento Político Atual. Editora JusPodivm. [Portuguese]
- "The New Map of Latin American Integration (2003–2013)." 2013. Mercosur Institute of Advanced Studies, Federal University for Latin American Integration (IMEA/UNILA). [Portuguese]

Selected Submitted Manuscripts

- "The Revisionist Superpower: Assessing the U.S. Shift from Consent-Based Hegemony to Coercive Supremacy and Its Implications for Global Order." Lead author, with Wagner Iglecias and Briza Quaresma Regueira. Submitted to Mural Internacional, 2026.
- "Populisms and the International Order: Domestic Dynamics and Foreign Policy Impacts." Lead author, with Briza Quaresma Regueira. Submitted to Civitas: Revista de Ciências Sociais, 2026.

Selected Works in Progress

- "The Guardianship Paradox: Brazil's Supreme Court from Rights Expansion to Individualized Constitutional Defense." Manuscript ready for submission.
- "Politics Wearing Court Dress: Brazil's 2016 Impeachment between Constitutional Legality and Democratic Legitimacy." Manuscript under revision.

Selected Institutional and Policy Reports

- Greater Caribbean 2035: Navigating Geopolitical Crosscurrents. Chief author. 2025. Association of Caribbean States.
 - Haiti Outlook: Current Challenges and Pathways to Recovery. 2026. Association of Caribbean States, prepared in collaboration with the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs.
 - Zona Especial de Desarrollo de los Valles del Tuy: Una Nueva Estrategia de Eficiencia Productiva para Venezuela. Co-author. 2014. Institute of Applied Economic Research (IPEA), Mission in Caracas.
-

INTERNATIONAL POLICY AND MULTILATERAL EXPERIENCE

Senior Political Adviser

Association of Caribbean States (ACS)

Port of Spain, Trinidad and Tobago | 2025–2026

Provided geopolitical analysis and strategic policy assessments across the organization's 25 member states. Led major multilateral policy initiatives, including the International Cooperation Conference (Cartagena, 2025) and the Regional Conference on Humanitarian Assistance and Development for Haiti (Panama City, 2026), which convened more than twenty governments, UN agencies, and humanitarian organizations. Directed the development of the report Haiti Outlook: Current Challenges and Pathways to Recovery in partnership with the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs and authored Greater Caribbean 2035, a foresight report informing the organization's ten-year strategic planning process. Designed and coordinated the internship program Ready-to-Grow, integrating student training into regional policy and cooperation initiatives.

Crisis Analysis Fellow

International Rescue Committee (IRC)

New York City, United States | 2022–2023

Member of the Crisis Analysis Team contributing to global risk assessment and humanitarian forecasting across fragile and conflict-affected contexts. Produced strategic country and thematic risk analyses integrating political, economic, and governance indicators to inform organizational planning, program prioritization, and humanitarian response strategies. Contributed to the Emergency Watchlist 2023, identifying countries at highest risk of humanitarian deterioration.

Political Analyst

Institute of Applied Economic Research (IPEA) — Brazilian Government

Caracas, Venezuela | 2012–2015

Led the design and intergovernmental coordination of a cross-border special economic zone integrating bilateral development cooperation and blended public-private financing mechanisms to catalyze regional investment and trade integration. Conducted integrated research and geopolitical risk intelligence and designed bilateral cooperation initiatives to enhance governance and development in the Brazil-Venezuela border region. Produced political risk and policy intelligence assessments for senior Brazilian government officials.

RESEARCH AGENDA

Situated at the intersection of international relations, political sociology, comparative politics, and democratic theory, my research agenda investigates the relationship between legitimacy, power, and political order across domestic and international arenas. At the domestic level, I analyze the origins, dynamics, and consequences of populism, democratic instability, and illiberal resurgence, by developing a synthetic framework capable of explaining why democratic societies periodically generate pressures toward authority, homogeneity, and power concentration. At the international level, I explore how transformations in domestic political legitimacy shape foreign policy behavior, regional orders, and global governance arrangements. Through this dual focus, my work seeks to explain how domestic political actors, nation-states, and international systems move between consent and coercion, cooperation and conflict, institutional restraint and political mobilization.

Areas of Specialization:

Political Sociology; International Relations

Areas of Competence:

Latin American and Caribbean Politics; Diplomacy, International Cooperation, and Multilateralism; Regional Integration; Geopolitics; Comparative Politics; Democracy and Populism

Research Methods:

Conceptual reconstruction and theory-building; comparative-historical analysis; qualitative case studies; process tracing; institutional and constitutional analysis; foreign policy analysis; discourse and documentary analysis; comparative regional analysis; political risk and geopolitical analysis; strategic foresight and scenario planning; policy analysis; descriptive analysis of cross-national datasets.

FELLOWSHIPS & AWARDS

- Dissertation Fellowship, The New School (2023–2024)
 - Zolberg Fellowship, International Rescue Committee (2022–2023)
 - Teaching Fellowship, The New School (2017)
 - Research Fellowship, The New School (2016)
 - Honors Program, Central Arizona College (2011)
 - Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence, Central Arizona College (2011)
-

RESEARCH GROUPS & ACADEMIC NETWORKS

Latin America and Global IR Research Group

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

Political analyst for CNN Brasil and BandNews TV

Media appearances: Al Jazeera, NTN24, TN Argentina

Public writing: O Globo, Public Seminar, Democracy Seminar

SELECTED INVITED TALKS AND MULTILATERAL POLICY ENGAGEMENTS

Invited Panelist, “South-South Cooperation in the Current Global Context”, Extended Meeting of the Bureau of the High-level Committee on South-South Cooperation (UNOSSC), Santa Marta, Colombia (6-8 May 2026). Discussed how Latin America and the Caribbean should address strategic autonomy, multilateralism, development financing, and the future of South-South Cooperation.

LANGUAGES

Portuguese (Native) | English (Fluent) | Spanish (Fluent)